CHECK OUT HISPANIA PORTUGUESE SPECIAL ISSUE

The year 2019 commemorated the AATSP's 75th anniversary of the incorporation of Portuguese into what had previously been the AATS. Guest Editors of this special issue (December 2020, 103.4), Leila Lehnen, Kathryn Bishop-Sanchez, Claire Williams, and Orlando R. Kelm, have produced a compelling tribute with broad implications.

- An article on the effect of learning a third language on one's second language
- An article on shipwreck narratives from Early Modern Portugal
- An article on Afro-Brazilians in Paulo Dutra's Aversão oficial
- Two articles focused on Portuguese immersion school programs
- Reviews of The Black Butterfly: Brazilian Slavery and the Literary Imagination & Lusophone, Galician, and Hispanic Linguistics: Bridging Frames and Traditions

Sign into <https://www.aatsp.org/> to read this special issue of Hispania.

SHH ANNOUNCES 2021 SPONSOR AND CHAPTER AWARDS

We know it has been a tough year to work with extracurricular activities, and the Sociedad Honoraria Hispánica would like to honor teachers who have continued to offer opportunities for their members. Applications are now available for the following SHH awards:

- Mario Fierros Award for Chapter Sponsor of the Year
- Chapter of the Year Award
- Activity of the Year Award

The Activity of the Year Award is for activities carried out during the current school year. Evidence for Sponsor of the Year and Chapter of the Year awards should demonstrate some activity this year but may include activities from the past three years. Click here \(https://www.aatpshh.org/chapterawards\) for full information and applications. The deadline to apply is Thursday, April 1.

SUBMISSIONS DEADLINE FOR SPANISH AND PORTUGUESE REVIEW VOLUME 7 IS MAY 17

Remember that the deadline to submit your manuscript for AATSP's graduate student journal, Spanish and Portuguese Review \(SPR\), is just a few months away. SPR publishes a variety of topics regarding the study or teaching of Hispanic and Luso-Brazilian languages and cultures. Familiarize yourself with the author guidelines, carefully review your manuscript, and submit your work! Please email spr@aatsp.org if you have any questions.

The deadline for submission is Monday, May 17.

NECTFL 2021

April 22–24 in New York City

Registration is open!

We know that there are still many variables at play. We're keeping a careful eye on the situation and plan to make a final decision as we get closer. For now, though, we're going ahead with plans for a hybrid conference, which means that you can go ahead with plans to attend either in-person or virtually! Given the dynamic nature of the situation we're in, we will be completely flexible with registration changes, so no need to "wait and see." The conference is happening one way or the other, and we're looking forward to seeing you there!

NECTFL 2021 will be hybrid – what does that mean?

- Everyone's safety is paramount. We'll be working closely with the Hilton to ensure proper social distancing and safety in all locations. This may mean some changes to how we usually do things, but we're up to the challenge and we know that the new "hybrid" normal is going to be with us for some time to come.

- Attendees may register to attend in person or virtually. In-person attendees will have access to everything offered on-site and virtually, via our conference app. Virtual attendees will have access to all live-streamed presentations, all pre-recorded presentations, as well as all presenter materials uploaded via the conference app.
- The majority of sessions will be presented on-site and most of these presentations will also be offered asynchronously in a pre-recorded format for virtual attendees.
- A certain number of sessions during each time slot will be live-streamed and accessible to both in-person and virtual attendees. The exact schedule will be released late winter.
- Exhibits will be live on-site and virtual.
- In the event that the Hilton and/or New York City are not open or able to accommodate us, we will pivot to a fully virtual conference with a combination of live-streamed and pre-recorded sessions during the week of April 24–May 1.
- More details will come as we continue to plan. Please stay tuned and know that the conference is happening, one way or the other!

For complete registration details, to view the preliminary listing of sessions and pre-conference workshops, to apply for a scholarship, and/or to register, please visit our conference website:

NEW 2-Hour NECTFL Virtual Workshop Series

NECTFL is pleased to present an outstanding line-up of presenters to help us learn and grow professionally during the short days of winter.

- Workshop content and format will vary by presenter, but are intended to be more personal than webinars, with opportunities for attendee discussion, contributions, and/or breakouts.
- Workshops are two hours in length and will be conducted using Zoom. They will only be available synchronously at the time indicated and will not be recorded.
- Registration is limited to the first 50 participants in each workshop.

Workshops in this series are $35 each.

Registration links below will take you to nectfl.org/webinars. You may need to refresh your browser and/or clear your cache in order to view the new information.

Effective Assessment by Mode (Covid Edition)

Rebecca Blouwolff, Wellesley Middle School, MA

Sunday, March 14 @ 1:00–3:00 p.m.

What practices promote effective assessment in hybrid and remote settings? How can teachers remain faithful to the principles of the integrated performance assessment (IPA) given current circumstances? This webinar will explore time-saving adaptations for assessing the interpretive, interpersonal and presentational modes in hybrid and remote classrooms. Come away with concrete examples of abbreviated assessments, single-point standards-based rubrics, and techniques to increase student ownership via reflection and goal-setting. This workshop will include opportunities for small group conversation and planning your own assessments.

Effective Hybrid Learning in the Language Classroom

Maureen Lamb, Kingswood-Oxford School, CT

Saturday, March 20 @ 1:00–3:00 p.m.

Effective Hybrid Learning in the Language Classroom with Maureen Lamb, Kingswood-Oxford School, CT

With opportunities for both online and in-person learning this year, this presentation will review some of the best practices in hybrid learning. This includes using online tools for organization strategies, how to support students who may not be able to attend class in person through remote synchronous learning, and how to set up an effective asynchronous environment for students who cannot participate. Some of the tools covered will include Zoom, the Google Suite, FlipGrid, Flippity, GimKit, Peardeck, mobile apps, and more. Teachers will come away from this presentation with activities that they can use right away in their language classes.
